HELIJET SCHEDULED SERVICES

Downtown Vancouver • Downtown Victoria • Downtown Nanaimo • YVR

Fast, Friendly, and Efficient.

For three decades, Helijet – the largest provider of scheduled helicopter passenger services in North America – has been whisking passengers across the Salish Sea; connecting Victoria, British Columbia’s capital city, with Vancouver, Canada’s third-largest city. And now, the bustling Harbour City of Nanaimo has been added to the list of cities served.

All routes are served by Helijet’s fleet of fast and comfortable 12-passenger Sikorsky S-76 helicopters. With a choice of over 150 scheduled flights a week, passengers experience friendly personalized service, fast and convenient check-ins with no long line ups or baggage hassles.

Once onboard, passengers sit back, relax and enjoy the spectacular mountains, rugged shorelines, and countless islands and inlets that make British Columbia’s south coast and Vancouver Island so unique. Whether you’re travelling for business or pleasure, Helijet is the way to go.

As permitted by Transport Canada Instrument Flight Rules (IFR), Helijet operates day or night, clear or cloudy. IFR allows Helijet to fly safely in weather conditions or rough seas that so frequently disrupt ferry and floatplane services in this part of the world.

Helijet’s scheduled helicopter services operate out of four well-appointed passenger terminals:

- Vancouver Harbour Heliport: adjacent to the famous sails of Canada Place, North America’s busiest west coast cruise ship terminal, and the SeaBus Terminal at Waterfront Station, walking distance from Vancouver’s bustling downtown core and business district.
- Vancouver International Airport Heliport: Helijet’s passenger terminal, administrative offices, and hangars are located at Vancouver International Airport (YVR), one of the world’s major gateway airports.
- Victoria Harbour Heliport: next to the Ogden Point cruise ship terminal, the heliport is a free shuttle ride or a short stroll from downtown Victoria.
- Nanaimo Harbour Heliport: operating from the Port of Nanaimo cruise terminal and welcome centre, downtown Nanaimo is just a quick free shuttle ride away.
