Airble announces partnership with Helijet International to offer online charter flight deals to North American, Caribbean and European destinations

Richmond, B.C. (October 22, 2024): Online charter flight booking service Airble is excited to announce its new partnership with Helijet International Inc. to offer even more non-stop travel choices for private charter passengers seeking to fly in comfort and convenience.

Helijet's Cessna Citation X charter flights booked through the Airble website or mobile app offer non-stop access to numerous North American destinations, including Cabo San Lucas, Toronto, New York, Miami, Hawaii, plus the Caribbean. Flights to European destinations can also be arranged through Airble.

With decades of experience safely flying more than 2.5 million passengers since it began in 1986, Helijet is a trusted name in aviation offering North America's largest scheduled passenger helicopter airline, plus fixed-wing charter services.

Now, through its new flight scheduling partnership, Airble takes a major leap forward by adding Helijet private charter deals across British Columbia, North America, and beyond. Empty leg flight offers are also available.

"We are thrilled to welcome Helijet aboard and are confident you will love their exceptional service," said Airble CEO Saeed Golzar. "At Airble, innovation and sustainability are at the heart of our mission. Airble's automated platform streamlines the entire air charter process, making it simple for you to browse, book, and instantly pay for your desired travel experience. We are committed to reducing unnecessary emissions by filling seats on aircraft in service, including numerous private empty leg deals. There may be up to 50 deals available on airble.com at any given time."

Expanded International Reach via Helijet's Cessna Citation X

Based at its own independent base at Vancouver International Airport (YVR,) Helijet added the Cessna Citation X turbojet aircraft to its fleet earlier this year. One of the fastest luxury commercial jets available, the Citation X has a travel range double that of smaller corporate jets, with cruising speeds exceeding 700mph (Mach .92) and capable of flying at altitudes of 50,000 ft.

The aircraft features:

- Club-style cabin passenger seating for eight, with a spacious stand-up cabin configuration
- Ample temperature-controlled independent luggage and cargo compartments
- Full connectivity with phone, Wi-Fi, internet and streaming services at each seat

Helijet's Citation X service is also complemented by a six-passenger Learjet aircraft available for charter, as well as connecting passenger helicopter services from downtown Vancouver to downtown Victoria and Nanaimo.

"We're happy to have Airble join us in offering our clients the ability to streamline the booking process for our charter aircraft," Helijet President and CEO Danny Sitnam stated. "Together we can offer our customers an incomparable business class booking and travel experience to meet their long-distance travel requirements."

About Airble
